

An Adaptation Planning Workshop for the Sierra Nevada

June 4 – 5, 2013

Workshop 2 of the Climate Adaptation Project for the Sierra Nevada

Purpose:

The goal of this workshop is to develop and prioritize adaptation strategies for key resources and regions, including identifying who could implement what strategy and where. The workshop will include a review of the results from the vulnerability assessment workshop, presentation of new spatial analysis and mapping to facilitate adaptation planning, an overview of adaptation approaches, and development of adaptation strategies for the region and resources. This is the second workshop of a two-part workshop series. The first workshop, focused on vulnerability assessment, was held in March 2013. Details on that workshop can be found at: <http://ecoadapt.org/workshops/sierra-nevada-va-workshop>.

Participants:

Land managers, planners, natural resource specialists, science and community partners, and conservation practitioners.
