

A Vulnerability Assessment Workshop for Focal Resources of the Sierra Nevada

March 5 – 7, 2013

Workshop 1 of the Climate Adaptation Project for the Sierra Nevada

Purpose: The goal of this workshop is to assess the vulnerability of a suite of focal resources (species, habitats, ecosystem services) to climate change. The workshop will also include a review of climate science for the region, vulnerability assessment training, discussion and refinement of regional management goals and action opportunities, and identification of spatial analysis needs to facilitate adaptation planning. This is the first workshop of a two-part workshop series. The second workshop will be focused on developing adaptation strategies for focal resources.

Participants: Land managers, planners, natural resource specialists, science and community partners, and conservation practitioners.

Where: Cal State Sacramento

To Register: Please contact Jessi Kershner at EcoAdapt, jessi@ecoadapt.org
Deadline for registration is Feb 15th

For More Information:

Visit www.ecoadapt.org/programs/adaptation-consultations/calcc/

